I sit upon this mossy stone
And sigh when none can hear

And while I spin my fateful thread

and sing my simple Lay

The Village seems asleep or dead

Now Lubin is away.

When loud contending Billows sweep,

And silver'd Waves arise;

The Ship low plunges in the deep,

And now assails the Skies;

But greater and the Storms by far,

Thall, in my bosoms roll;

Love's cruel conflict struggles there,

And agitates my Soul.

Thy form my mind my Passion holds,

No one ere lov'd more true

The Parted distant as the Poles,

My heart is still with you.

In pity then return my Love,

Not from my wishes fly

For if you smile, with Heavens, Pleased,

But if you frown I die

The Honey Moon

When Mary first my Love inspired
 I thought her smiles the height of bliss,
 Each winning grace, by turns acquired,
 And tastes fragrant in a kiss.
 When musing how swift the moments flew,
 No thought of care my bosom knew,
 Ah! tell me not I boast too soon,
 I know there's then the honey Moon.

So tender was my Mary's Love,
 For me was every gentle care,
 And pure the joy to me would prove,
 Reflected from my charming fair;
 And the four weeks had swiftly past,
 Each gave improvement to the last,
 And mutual Love call'd down a boon
 From Heaven; a second Honey Moon!

My Mary long has bless'd my arms,
 As good as gentle & as kind;
 Her cheeks retain, its wanted charms,
 Encraps the beauties of her mind.
 Kind heaven! Oh grant my fervent prayer,
 These blessings, while on earth to share,
 In harmonious unvaried tune,
 Makes every Month a Honey Moon.

Cont.

This image shows a page of handwritten musical notation on aged, yellowed paper. The page is titled "Cont." at the top center. The notation is organized into several systems, each consisting of two staves (treble and bass clefs) connected by a large curly brace on the left. The first system features a treble staff with a melodic line and a bass staff with a simpler accompaniment. The second system continues the melody with more complex phrasing. The third system introduces a more active bass line with frequent eighth notes. The fourth system features a treble staff with a complex, rapid melodic line and a bass staff with a steady eighth-note accompaniment. The fifth system continues this pattern with further melodic development. The sixth system shows a treble staff with a melodic line and a bass staff with a steady eighth-note accompaniment. The seventh system features a treble staff with a melodic line and a bass staff with a steady eighth-note accompaniment. The eighth system continues the melody with more complex phrasing. The ninth system features a treble staff with a melodic line and a bass staff with a steady eighth-note accompaniment. The tenth system continues the melody with more complex phrasing. The notation is written in dark ink, and the paper shows signs of age, including discoloration and some staining.
